Subject: Follow up on State Water Board Grazing Guidance

Dear Stakeholders,

Thank you to all of you who responded to the initial email introducing the State Water Board's non-regulatory guidance document on livestock grazing management in California. We value your input and are noting your comments and feedback. Some of you have supplied additional contacts within your organization, and those people will also receive the first email that was sent. Others have asked for a list of who we have contacted thus far, so below is a list of the organization that have been contacted to participate. We have also contacted some individuals, so feel free to pass on names and emails of people you think would have valuable feedback in the initial stages of this project.

Thank you again for your participation in the development of the grazing guidance document. We will be sending an email in a few weeks with a list of questions about grazing in California to help us better understand the challenges to grazing as well as to identify mechanisms to promote and increase the use of grazing best management practices.
